

THEFT OF THE DIAMONDS

Young Girl Employed at the Home of J. D. McNamar

And Man to Whom She Loaned the Jewel are Arrested

Vinsel Pleaded Not Guilty—Case Set for Dec 23—"Paste" Diamond Put in Place of the Stolen Gem—Miss Simpson Makes Confession.

An uncontrollable ambition to live in a style incommensurate with the means at one's disposal has caused more than one person to exchange a position that might have been one of honor and honorable contentment for the hard pail of a prison cell, whereon the once upright person may spend unhappy hours in sorrowful contemplation of the change in environments brought about by one slip from the straight pathway of strict integrity.

This ambition has caused the downfall of pretty Bessie Simpson, who until a year ago was a contented girl of 18 years, living on the farm of her father, Jerome Simpson, an honored citizen of the county, living between Hanover and Black Hand.

Bessie was honest in her life, modest in her demands upon the father's bounty and had tastes and desires common to young women in her sphere in life, and no higher. Those who knew her a year ago give testimony that she was in every way a most estimable girl, who could be depended upon and trusted.

The innocent and honest country girl came to this city to make her home, and was fortunate in finding employment in the household of Julius J. D. McNamar, where only the best of influences were thrown around her. Here she saw evidences of wealth, not in vulgar display, but in the tasteful arrangement of details of the household, for her comfort as well as the members of the family. Had she continued to enjoy what she did while on the farm, had she permitted herself to associate with those in her station who were humbly contented all would have been well. But this she did not. Women were her companions who dressed better than she could afford on the wages she received. She never stopped to consider that their elegant clothes and gaudy jewels might have been purchased at a price not to be measured in dollars.

Her mistress trusted her implicitly. Costly jewels, dainty and expensive finery, dear to the feminine heart, were all about her. They were never locked from her, or guarded by the watchful eye of their owner.

Her ambition to outshine or at least equal those of her companions, for the moment overcame a life long training, nearly 19 years of integrity, and in a moment of weakness she fell. It was not long after the first step until the honest girl was a confirmed thief, and today she has confessed to having stolen from her mistress $178 worth of goods, among which may be enumerated a pair of opera glasses valued at $15, a large diamond brooch pin valued at $110, a smaller diamond pin valued at $15, a Persian lawn dress waist and other articles which she could not afford to buy and for which, in her circumstances she had no need. Mrs. McNamar when she first missed articles some months ago, at once sus-

INSTEAD OF A KISS

This Lover Faced Loaded Pistol in the Hands of the Irate Father—Rowdery Took to His Heels Wedding Off for Present.

Farmington, W. Va., Dec. 15.—With the supposed form of his sweetheart in his arms, Eddie C. Rowley, a B. & O. telegraph operator, descended a ten foot ladder from a window at the home of James Hagerty, Sunday morning, with whom he intended to elope and marry at Columbus, Ohio, but when terra firma was reached instead of a lover's kiss he faced a loaded revolver in the hands of an irate father.

In company with Miss Dayton, young Rowley proceeded to the Hagerty residence early Sunday morning and Miss Dayton placed a ladder to the girl's window. Young Rowley went to the window and taking the form heavily wrapped in a cloak started down the ladder and the prospective groom was radiantly happy for only a short period. As they reached the ground the cloak was thrown off and the father of the girl, with pistol in hand, stood before the frightened lover, who took to his heels with his companion, and nothing has since been heard of the Washington, Dec. 15.—Mr. Hepburn today presented a joint resolution providing that the President acquire by annexation or otherwise the island of San Domingo and the dependencies of San Domingo and Haiti. It went to the committee on foreign relations.

IN CONGRESS

Washington, Dec. 15.—There were only two score members present when the house met at noon today. Many members, particularly those from the far west, have left for their homes to spend the Christmas holidays. On motion of Mr. Van Voorhis of Ohio, the House in committee of the whole gave consideration to the pension appropriation bill.

DAY OF DEBATE.

Washington, Dec. 15.—The House was in session for a little more than four hours yesterday, during which time there was a general discussion on various topics. The pension appropriation bill was before the House, but no conclusion on it was reached. The isthmian canal and the republic of Panama, the tariff, tobacco interests and questions affecting labor were debated.

TALKED ON CUBAN BILL.

Washington, Dec. 15.—The Senate spent the day on the Cuban bill, most of the time occupied by Mr. Bailey of Texas, in an elaborate argument against the constitutionality of the proceeding. He claimed that no treaty changing the revenue laws that was not first authorized by legislation originating in the House of Representatives, was valid. Mr. Bailey also opposed the bill as a matter of general policy. Brief speeches were made by Senators Teller, Depew and Lodge. The latter asserted that Cuba had adopted the same immigration laws as those of the United States in regard to Chinese immigration.

FIRE

Destroys Much Property at Rochester—Suspicion Aroused.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 15.—A property loss of over $350,000 resulted from a series of fires in Rochester's factory district last night and this morning, two piano factories and wholesale liquor houses being destroyed. The indications point strongly to incendiarism and already there is under way an investigation that is strongly hinted will disclose a remarkable plot to destroy property. The police have been called into the case and watchmen in two of the places where the flames worked were this morning summoned to the Central police station to lend what assistance they can in locating the blame for the conflagrations that at one time threatened even more widespread destruction.

TREATY

Signed by Panama Was Brought to the United States by a Steamer This Morning.

New York, Dec. 15.—The Panama railroad company's steamer City of Washington arrived this morning from Colon bringing the signed canal treaty. The treaty is in a metal case in charge of Purser Arthur G. Notte, who turned it over to a representative of the government on arrival at the dock. There was no news of importance reported by the officers and passengers.

Boy Badly Hurt.

Zanesville, Dec. 15.—Frank Bollinger, 17, employed at the Zanesville woolen mill, narrowly escaped a horrible death Monday, and is now at his home in a serious condition.

Bollinger attempted to squeeze through a small place between two machines, which were in operation, and a portion of his clothing caught in one of the wheels. After he had been extricated from the machines it was found that Bollinger had a wound six inches long in the abdomen. A physician was called and Bollinger was removed to his home in an ambulance. The internal organs may be injured.

Frontier Fighting.

Berlin, Dec. 15.—The Tageblatt reports bloody conflicts between the Russian populace and Persian troops along the Caucasian and Persian frontier. In a series of pitched battles, the Caucasians were routed, the Persian army under the governor of Astrabad pursuing the remnants far into Persia. The Tageblatt commenting on the affair, says this frontier fighting will provide Russia with a pretext for tightening her grip on Persia.

Second Trial for D. J. Kelly.

Jefferson City, Mo., Dec. 15.—The case of Senator Frank Ferris, charged with accepting a bribe of $1,000 from D. J. Kelly for his vote to defeat the passage of the aim baking powder bill in the legislature of 1901, is again up in the Circuit court for retrial. The former trial two months ago resulted in a hung jury.

TROOPS

TO AID MARINES ON ISTHMUS OF PANAMA

To Prevent Colombian Invasion—Army Board Confers With Gen. Bell. Preparations Are On.

Barranquilla, Dec. 15.—I have received information from a reliable source that the Colombian cruisers, Cartagena and General Pinzon sailed from Cartagena on the 3rd inst with 1,600 troops and provisions. It is the reported intention to land them somewhere on the coast of the Gulf of Darien or San Blas to open up a passage for the Colombian army, which is expected to follow in a short time. Great excitement and anti-American sentiment prevail at Calamar and Cartagena.

Washington, Dec. 15.—The chances of war with Colombia were the subject of discussion by General J. Franklin Bell, who was summoned here from Colorado by the Army Board.

The administration is left in the dark as to the diplomatic intentions of General Reyes, who, it is expected, will make a formal statement before he returns to his country. His statement, it is believed, will contain his request for arbitration of the American-Colombian Panama affair, and the reply thereto by the State department or the President.

Meanwhile the United States has delivered practically an ultimatum to Colombia which is, however, only a repetition of orders to the navy to prevent a Colombian invasion of Panama.

The President appears to be now anxious to confine the operations against Colombia to the navy, but army officers believe that the Colombians will be able to make their way into the isthmus through the state of Antioquia, and that to make good, the President will eventually be obliged to order General Bell to the front. All the arrangements have been made for the speedy transportation of troops.

The news is that the first troops and the most available would be a battalion of the Porto Rican provisional regiment of infantry. Another force near at hand would be the two batteries of artillery at Santiago and Havana.

Army officers now think that the President could not, without a fearful loss of international respect, desist from his expressed determination to keep Colombia off the isthmus, even if it required the whole United States army.

Army people say that if the United States bayonets were withdrawn the Panama republic would not last very long.

The preparations are going on vigorously. The point was reached at this conference that the United States troops, if sent, would be landed at Barranquilla and Buenaventura.

The Navy department hears through its officers of the fleet and from consuls that there are somewhere on the isthmus certainly not less than 400 Colombian troops. The troops appear to have escaped the patrol of the Bancroft, the Mayflower and the Atlanta. Marines have therefore been rushed over to Panama from Colon, and there will probably be sent on scouting expeditions to a distance of several miles from the line of railroad at least. The news is that additional marines are to follow the detachment sent yesterday to Panama.

Cable advices received by the State and Navy departments confirm the report cabled from Colon to the effect that Colombian troops had landed on the coast south of Panama with the object of marching on Panama.

If elected to the presidency of Colombia by the overwhelming majority which Bogota dispatches indicate, Gen. Rafael Reyes, Colombian minister to the United States, it is learned, would regard his call to his country as a command which it would be difficult for him to refuse to obey. General Reyes has consistently declined to discuss the question of his election, but to an intimate friend he is quoted as saying that he could hardly refuse to serve his country at the hour of her need, although he is not a politician and has never sought the presidency. Several friends of General Reyes confidently predict that he will certainly accept.

GUERRILLA CAMPAIGN

Of Long Duration Is Looked for on the Panama Isthmus.

Colon, Dec. 15.—A force of marines, under Captain Butler from the United States auxiliary cruiser Prairie, was sent to Panama from here. They embarked there on a tug and were taken to Yaviza, 100 miles below Panama.

The first offensive move against Colombia involves the American forces exclusively, and it is believed to be the beginning of what may prove a long drawn out guerrilla campaign. The force is under orders to guard the Transisthmian road from Darien.

The United States force is expected to check the Colombian advance. This, it is believed, will result in a sharp conflict between the two forces, the outcome of which may depend upon the strength of the Colombian troops numerically. It was announced here however, that more marines are to be sent to other points inland to keep the Colombian invasion in check.

The expedition that started yesterday is under command of Captain Smedley D. Butler. Yaviza is some distance inland on the Tuira river, which empties into the San Miguel Gulf.

Olympia Sails Tomorrow.

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 14.—The United States cruiser Olympia is coaling rapidly here today and will sail Wednesday to join the Caribbean sea squadron for possible action in Panama. Up on the Olympia's arrival Rear Admiral Coghlan will at once transfer his flag to this vessel from the President's yacht, Mayflower, now acting flagship in the Caribbean Sea.

Washington, Dec. 15.—If the U. S. ships are sent to the Isthmus of Panama as now seems probable, Brig. General J. Franklin Bell will be in command. This fact was admitted today by high officials of the War department.

SPENCER'S REMAINS CREMATED.

London, Dec. 15.—The body of Herbert Spencer was cremated yesterday.

CASHIER

Shot Himself In Bank at New Haven, Conn., Today.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 15.—Asa C. Bushnell, cashier of the Yale National Bank, one of the best known financial institutions in the city, shot himself in the bank this morning. He was taken to Grace Hospital in a dying condition. The bank officials declined to make any statement except that they were mystified at the crime of Mr. Bushnell, and had no reason to believe anything was wrong with his looks.

The shooting took place in a toilet room in the basement under the bank shortly after the doors were opened. Bushnell had just had his colleagues good morning. He had risen from a position as clerk in the bank. He was a teller last year and within that period had been promoted to his present position. He was about 50 years old, and had a residence in the fashionable section of the city. Bushnell died at the hospital an hour after the shooting.

APPROACH OF DEATH RESTORED HIS REASON.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Dec. 15.—A mystery has been cleared up by the anti-mortem statement of a patient in the Kalamazoo asylum for the insane. An unknown man was picked up on the streets here in July, 1901, unable to speak. He was declared insane and sent to the asylum under the name of John Doe. He never spoke until a few moments before his death which has just taken place. When his speech and reason came back for a moment and he said that his name was James Reem, or Ren of Fort Wayne, where he had a father, mother, brother and sister living.

RIISING SUN MYSTERY.

More Witnesses Called Before Grand Jury Today.

An Anonymous Letter Now Figures In The Strange Case.

Miss Gillespie it Develops Had $2,000 Insurance--Witnesses Testify That They Have Seen Her Brother Knock Her Down Twice.

Rising Sun, Ind., Dec. 15.—"Marshall Overly, you have the wrong man under suspicion. There is only one person who can tell who fired the shot. I am the one. But no one will ever find me. I am going where I will be hidden from the world. Elizabeth Gillespie did me a great wrong and it was avenged." (Signed) "X. X. Z. Y."

The above anonymous letter now figures in the mystery surrounding the assassination of Elizabeth Gillespie. The letter has been in the possession of the authorities since Sunday. It was received by Town Marshal Overly, and was mailed from Indianapolis.

Twenty more witnesses were summoned this morning to appear before the grand jury and other witnesses who have testified will be recalled. The grand jury will not complete its work before Thursday evening, when it is expected that one and possibly two indictments will be returned.

A woman suspect in the case, who was subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury attempted to leave town last night, but was prevented by the officers. The house is being watched by two special police to prevent her escape. Mrs. Belle Seward, a sister of the murdered woman, appeared before the grand jury this morning. Two witnesses will testify today that they saw Miss Gillespie assaulted several times and knocked down twice, by her brother, James.

The letter which was received by the marshal Monday was written by a woman and it is generally believed that it was written here and sent to Indianapolis to be mailed.

Rising Sun, Ind., Dec. 15.—Those having in charge the investigation of the murder of Elizabeth Gillespie are startled by the news that the dead girl had an insurance policy for $2,000, and that her brother James is the beneficiary. The rumor that James would receive the money under the terms of the policy was confirmed by a message from Cincinnati last night.

Dr. Gillespie was asked: "Did you know, Doctor, that your sister had a policy for $2,000, payable to her brother James?" He replied:

"I certainly do not know that she had any insurance at all, and I am positive that Jim did not know it. It is possible that my mother was aware of it, but I am certain that none of the other members of the family knows anything about my sister insuring her life."

Assistant Prosecutor Davis said that an investigation of this phase of the famous case would be made by the grand jury before it finished its work.

Louis Wirth and W. T. Moylan, of Cincinnati, representing the insurance company, were here in regard to the Gillespie claim. They refused to talk about the matter, but one of them dropped a hint that they would not pay the claim until its validity had been fully established.

The policy was taken out with a young man named Edward Trout, of Cincinnati, in 1901. Miss Gillespie paid several premiums in advance. Her attorney, Mayor Charles Matson, does not know anything definite regarding the policy. Miss Gillespie made no will, and her property will go equally to her mother, brothers and sister. She owned two houses, one worth $1,200 and the other $800, and a farm valued at $3,500. She had some personal property. The grand jury may not reach the end of the investigation before Thursday, but the prosecuting attorney hopes to finish by Wednesday night. Great care is being exercised in preventing a leakage from the juryroom. Judge Downey has cautioned Prosecuting Attorney Wulber, his assistant, Davis, and the jurors to tell nothing.

In spite of these efforts to keep information away from the newspapers and the public, news continues to percolate through legal channels. It is (Continued on page Four)

PLOT TO KILL POWELL

Revealed by Member of the Santo Domingo Cabinet--The United States Representative and Jimenez In Peril--Two Attempts to Kill the Latter.

New York, Dec. 15.—Reliable information has reached this city that a plot was hatched in the Provisional Government of Santo Domingo to assassinate the United States Minister to that republic, William F. Powell, and also General Juan Jimenez, the prospective president of the republic. It is further alleged that two attempts have been made already to assassinate Jimenez.

The reason given for the plot against Mr. Powell is that the minister is "too independent and is playing a lone hand, refusing to be influenced by politicians." The plotters think that if they can get rid of him the United States will send some man as his successor who is more pliable and can be molded to the will of the political leaders.

News of the plot against Mr. Powell was contained in a private communication from a high official of the Dominican Government to a Dominican citizen residing in New York. The communication was brought by a passenger who arrived here on Sunday on the United Fruit company's steamship Foxhall, from Puerto Plata.

According to the communication, on December 5 a high official for the Government who took office when President Woezy Gil was deposed, made this proposition:

"We must get rid of Minister Powell. He is too independent and we can do nothing with him. If he is out of the way we can get a minister sent down here whom we can influence to do what we want him to. It is an easy matter. Let two or three men get into a fight some day on the street along which Minister Powell is coming, and in the melee the American can be killed by accident. It is easy and is our best way to get rid of him." Several of the men present, all officials, fell in with this plan and began to discuss details enthusiastically, one suggesting that it could be arranged for a party of soldiers who could congregate under arms without exciting comment, to carry out the plot."

Carlos Ginebra, one of the Ministers, vehemently opposed the idea, saying:

"I will never consent to such an outrage. Minister Powell is a good man, and it would be an outrage to kill him. Even if we had cause to do so, such an act would bring down on us swift vengeance from the United States Government. Unless this idea is given up immediately and finally I will withdraw from the Cabinet and leave the Government."

The plan was then abandoned, but the few influential citizens who know of the plot are in constant fear for Minister Powell's safety. Whenever he leaves the house he is carefully watched over by friendly citizens who are on the alert for some overt attack to be made upon him.

Minister Powell is said to be cognizant of the attempts upon the life of Jimenez and the danger which threatens him. It is said also that he has found many attempts to tamper with his communications to the State Department on the subject.

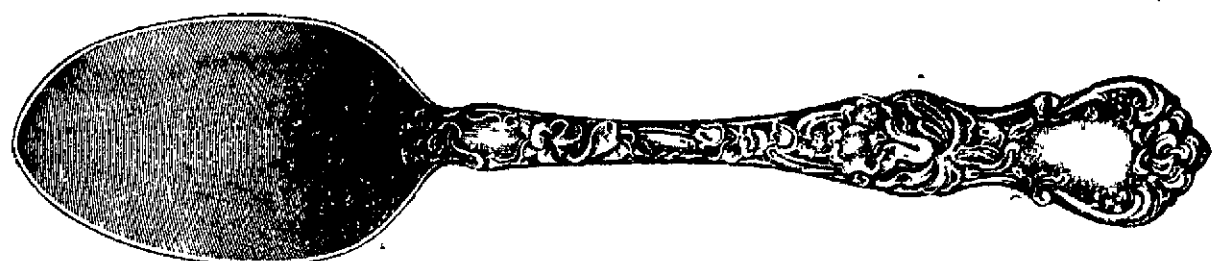

The letter says that two attempts have been made to assassinate General Jimenez, the first on December 6, when Jimenez was riding out to a cottage in Tamboril, a suburb of Santiago. As the carriage was going along a lonely spot a man concealed in a clump of bushes at the side of the road fired twice at him, both bullets just missing Jimenez, and one cutting through the crown of his hat.

Friends of Jimenez who were riding with him sprang from the carriage and gave chase, but the man escaped, having so good a start that he easily lost his pursuers in the undergrowth,

Comrade Oliver Williams will be inspector of emblems, and it is hoped that there will be no sound of wailing or sobbing heard in the hay loft as a result of a possible failure to be in prime condition for the ordeal. Pertinent Suggestion.

In view of the fact that the failure to cut off the natural gas in the Powers-Miller building at the late fire, caused the greatest part of the loss and damage, would it not be proper that the council of the city pass an ordinance requiring both gas companies to send an employee with proper appliances and tools forthwith upon notice of a fire to shut off the gas from the burning building? BURGLARS Broke Into Plaine's Department Store in West Newark and Stole a Quantity of Goods.

At 12 27 Tuesday morning Officer James Callan, whose beat is in West Newark, found that Plaine's department store on Union street, opposite the Baehler grocery, had been burglarized. Two thieves had used a cross bar to pry off three doors in the rear of the building finally gaining an entrance. There is no clue to the burglars who got away with a quantity of goods, including suspenders, trousers, shoes, hats, socks, gloves, handkerchiefs, scarf pins and cuff buttons.

The Democrats in caucus on Saturday reached the sensible conclusion not to impede the progress of Cuban reciprocity by offering amendments, though the bill demands several. The final vote comes on Wednesday, and passage of the measure appears to be assured. Democrats can well felicitate themselves that a system of tariff concessions long advocated will be partially enforced, and that so far as the House was concerned Democratic votes were indispensable to its enactment.

General Grosvenor has been again exposed as a false statistician. It is cruel to allow the feelings of the prophet, already so outraged by the fact that the President commits the ship subsidy bill to a commission the day after Grosvenor said it wouldn't happen, because he had not been informed. But in his recent arrangement of the electoral vote next November, he asserted that the lieutenant governor of Rhode Island was a Republican and had carried the State by 8,900 votes, while Governor Garvin, Democrat, had a plurality of 3,000. The lieutenant governor in fact had 341 plurality.

A Timely Suggestion.

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is certain to be needed before the winter is over, and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system. In almost every instance a severe cold may be ward off by taking this remedy freely as soon as the first indication of the cold appears. There is no danger in giving it to children, for it contains no harmful substance. It is pleasant to take—both adults and children like it. Buy it and you will get the best. It always cures. For sale by all druggists.

LETTERS TO SANTA.

Santa Claus, who is a very busy man these days, just before Christmas, says that he will have time next Sunday to read Saturday's Advocate and suggests that the boys and girls write to him in care of the Advocate.

The Advocate therefore announces that it will print a page of Santa Claus letters next Saturday but the letters must all be in this office not later than Thursday evening, December 17. No letters will be printed before or after Saturday, December 19. Any letters written by the boys and girls after next Thursday evening must be sent to Santa Claus direct, but the good old man will be sure to see those that are sent to the Advocate office on or before Thursday night as they will appear in Saturday evening's paper.

WOMAN

Confronts Senator Hanna's Chum with Breach of Promise Testimony in a Cleveland Court.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 15.—The breach of promise case of Mrs. Katherine Wolverson against Dudley Baldwin, millionaire clubman and chum of Senator Hanna, in which the plaintiff sues for $50,000, was brought to trial in the Common Pleas court before Judge Disette. Judge Disette ordered the courtroom cleared of all persons except those interested in the case.

Baldwin admits that he aided Mrs. Wolverson financially to secure a divorce from Ed. R. Wolverson; that the relations between him and Mrs. Wolverson began a year before she obtained her divorce, and that he frequently visited other cities with her. Their relations were pure, he says.

Mrs. John Mills, a Chicago widow, testified to meeting Baldwin and Mrs. Wolverson in a public villa. She said that while they were drinking wine Baldwin said: "Katherine, here's to you ladies, we drink to the future Mrs. Baldwin."

Mrs. Wolverson testified in part as follows:

"I met Mr. Baldwin June 9, 1895. That was before I was divorced. It was not until June 11, 1896, that I was a free woman. I saw him in the office the day the decree was granted. I continued to see him after that until we had our trouble. Some times we would see one another three times a day."

Mrs. Wolverson frequently refers to Baldwin as Dudley. She would correct herself and say Mr. Baldwin. She showed deep emotion and her voice trembled.

We were at Edgewater a week after I had secured a divorce," she continued, "walking along the beach. The sun was setting when he told me that he loved me and wanted to make me his wife. We strolled along until dusk, his arm around my waist. He kissed me frequently."

"One day we named the place 'Bonnie Brook' because it was there that Dudley Baldwin made me believe that I was to be his wife, and Dudley Baldwin," she said, turning to him and speaking quietly, "you know it." There were tears in her eyes at this time.

IN THE LAKE

Fabian Decot at St. Joseph's was Drowned—The Funeral Services Held There Today.

Somerset, O., Dec. 15.—Fabian Decot the farm superintendent at St. Joseph's priory, the farmhouse of the Order of Dominican, located near here, met death in a distressing way Sunday. Mr. Decot was making ready to begin cutting ice from the lake and went there to test the ice. He went alone, riding a mule. In a couple of hours one of the employees, John Redmond, observed that he had not returned, and fearing that something might have happened, went to learn the cause of the protracted absence. He found the mule hitched to a fence near, and looking out over the lake saw his employer's cap floating on the water.

The alarm was given at once and help came from the priory. Father Kennedy, the prior, took several men in a boat and began the search for the body, which was presently recovered. Heroic efforts were made to rekindle the life spark, but the man was past human aid. The body was taken to the institution and was buried today from St. Joseph's church, the services being conducted under the auspices of the Somerset Court of Foresters and the Holy Name society.

The deceased was 28 years of age. Mr. Decot was born and reared in this county, his father being Mr. Anthony Decot.

RISEING SUN MYSTERY

intimated that yesterday was the most prolific of testimony tending to fasten the murder on one of the suspects. It has been claimed by some fault-finders that in the determination to find the perpetrator of the fiendish deed possible accessories might be overlooked. Now the claim is made that webs are being drawn around more than one person closer than it was at first supposed possible to do.

Myron L. Barbour, the bank cashier, was recalled for the third time. He answered the questions put to him with frankness.

Mrs. Campbell, a niece of Mrs. Gillespie and cousin of the murdered girl, is reported to have told on the witness stand what she related a day or two after the assassination. On that occasion she said that when the shot was fired Mrs. Belle Seward, a sister of Miss Gillespie, was at the home of Mrs. Boyle, where Mrs. Campbell is visiting, and showed great agitation and shouted "I'm afraid some one has been killed." Other peculiar little circumstances were told to the grand jury by Mrs. Campbell.

The witnesses who are alleged to have important knowledge regarding threats against Miss Gillespie's life are Joe and Charles Henschen, brothers living on a farm near the Gillespie farm. According to the story, they heard a person say some ugly things about the dead girl about three weeks ago. The assertion is said to have been made, "I am in a—h—, and there will be fur flying before long."

PROGRESS

ON THE INTERURBAN LINE TO ZANESVILLE.

In Choice of Route the Scenic Element Cut Considerable Figure—Scenery Delightful all the Way.

The Zanesville Signal says that good progress has been made on the Newark-Zanesville trolley line during the past few days. A section of the iron bridge over Licking has been placed in position; the 20 foot cut on the hillside at the Dantz farm is within about one hundred feet of being finished; the trolley poles are up all the way from the Dantz farm to a point opposite the Gant Park grand stand; grading has been finished and the rails laid from the same starting point to the Timber Run ice houses; from Timber Run eastward for several hundred feet the grading is done and the rails and ties are distributed ready for track laying; four houses have been removed from the company's right of way between the point where it crosses Licking road, near the east end of Gant Park, and where it ends at its junction with the city car lines past west of the Terminal's viaduct over West Main street, while a great many trees have been felled all along the right of way from Timber Run down the Licking road and thence over the rear of the lots to Stee street and their trunks and branches have been piled up against the standing trees along the Licking bank, to form the nucleus of a barrier against high water.

It is understood that in the choice of a route from Newark to Zanesville for the new road the scenic element cut considerable figure. The valley of the Licking revealed itself to the powers that be as the possessor of uncommon scenic beauties. Starting with the proposition that the tracks must go above the high water mark it became inevitable that the right of way should traverse the second levels, and where none of these existed should skirt the foothills some distance above their bases. In looking out thus for safety, economy and permanence, the engineers could not miss taking advantage of the beauties all along the valley, for their lines, over many stretches, were fixed at levels averaging 20 or more feet above the B & O. tracks, and therefore 30 or more feet above the surface of the river, making it certain that, from the heights chosen, the new road's passenger would gain at every turn beautiful vistas of winding stream, terraced bottoms and wooded hills.

To measure with the eye the north approach to the company's crossing at the Licking bridge itself and the route now being graded thence eastward, is to get a good hint as to the scenic pleasures awaiting the patrons of the new interurban. At a point nearly due south of the school house on the Newark or "poor house" road the tracks leave the second level and cross the meadows on a long trestle. They cross the Licking at a height at least 50 feet above the surface, and span the B & O. tracks with a clearance of twenty feet or more. It will be a rare sight when nature is at her best to look up and down the valley from that fine "coign of vantage."

And the passenger bound cityward will have many another attractive view as the car swings onto the hillside and spins down the valley's southern slope—on the left the lofty hills, the county infirmary, the gardens and farms skirting both sides of the creek, the curving stream itself, the broad valley, and in its farthest edge, the children's home. Maplewood park and the Terrace bluffs; on the right the pretty Timber Run valley, the pike winding around the hillside, the northern slope of Mt. Calvary, the inviting precincts of Gant Park.

A severe case of Ovarian Trouble and a terrible operation avoided. Mrs. Emmons tells how she was saved by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am so pleased with the results obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I feel it a duty and a privilege to write you about it."

"I suffered for more than five years with ovarian troubles, causing an unpleasant discharge, a great weakness, and at times a faintness would come over me which no amount of medicine, diet, or exercise seemed to correct. Your Vegetable Compound found the weak spot, however, within a few weeks and saved me from an operation—all my troubles had disappeared and I found myself once more healthy and well. Words fail to describe the real, true, grateful feeling that is in my heart, and I want to tell every sick and suffering sister. Don't dally with medicines you know nothing about, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and take my word for it, you will be a different woman in a short time."—MRS. LAURA EMMONS, Walkerville, Ont.—$5000 for the original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

"Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. No woman ever regretted writing her and she has helped thousands. Address Lynn, Mass."

ANSWER

AND CROSS PETITION FILED BY PEOPLES BANK

In the Suit Brought to Enforce Payment on the Certificates of Deposit—The Hoover Case.

The Peoples National Bank by its attorneys, John J. Adams, Pomeroy & Pomeroy and Flory & Flory, have filed an answer to the suit instituted by the Licking County Bank company to recover the value of the certificates of deposit turned over to the plaintiff bank by Harry J. Hoover, after they had been concealed by him for a long time. The Licking Bank claims they are now valid outstanding claims against the Peoples Bank.

Defendant admits that the certificates mentioned were presented and payment refused but denies each and every other allegation, and denies that plaintiff is owner of said certificates. The answer further says that prior to and at the time each certificate was issued one Harry J. Hoover was indebted to the Peoples Bank for money appropriated over $35,000 which was at that time payable, that said certificates were and are the property of said Hoover and that the sum owed by Hoover to defendant is a set off and counter claim against said certificates; that any amounts due thereon became satisfied by so much of Hoover's indebtedness as amounted to the amount of the certificates; that if the certificates have been assigned to the Licking County Bank, it was done long after they became due and dishonored and without consideration, and after they had been compensated by the indebtedness of Hoover.

A cross petition accompanied the answer, which avers that prior to August 29, 1903, Harry Hoover owed the Peoples Bank over $35,000, no part of which has been paid except as may have been satisfied by the certificates sued on. That if it is held in the pending action that defendant is liable to plaintiff on the certificates, then defendant avers that on or about August 29, 1903, Hoover transferred to Jas. K. Hamill for the nominal sum of $20,000 certain real estate (describing part of the Union block) which real estate said Hamill and his wife attempted to convey to the Licking County Bank, by a deed dated October 6, 1903, which has never been filed for record, and also transferred to said Hamill a half interest in a kennel of dogs located at West Point, Miss., other lots in Wehrle's addition, carriages, horses and other personal property with eight policies of life insurance amounting to $21,000, that all these conveyances were made to Hamill, E. W. Crayton, the Licking County Bank, and to an unknown trustee, upon a secret trust not appearing upon the face of the conveyances; that they were made to secure to the Licking County Bank certain indebtedness, which is the same indebtedness for the security of which the said bank claims the certificates sued upon; that the certificates if delivered to plaintiff were delivered to secure an indebtedness for which they had already received the conveyances of real and personal property; that Hoover is insolvent.

Wherefore defendant prays that H. J. Hoover, J. K. Hamill, E. W. Crayton and Frederic M. Black be made parties to this action, and if defendant is held liable then, that they be required to account for all of said real and personal property to be applied to the payment of any amount found to be due from defendant upon certificates.

FIGHT FOR LAND WORTH BILLIONS

Toler recently sold his seat on the stock exchange in order to devote all his time to the restoration of Harlem real estate to the alleged rightful heirs.

Property worth $2,000,000,000 is claimed by the corporation under royal grants of land lying north of the present 74th street. There are said to be 17,990 of the original 26 owners of "New Harlem."

3 1/2 DAY BEFORE CHRISTMAS

TWAS the day before Christmas, and all through the place there were racket and trouble. Little Willie had found where the raisins were hid. And he stuffed himself full to the tonsils he did. Little Daisy discovered high up on a shelf a dolly that she was to have for herself. When mamma found out she at once told the doll.

To be sent to the store whence it came and a squall that was heart-felt and piercing went up from the child. Who rushed through the house with appeals that were wild. Making promises never to snoop again more. If the dolly were not taken back to the store.

The grocer's boy mixed up his orders and brought about forty-five things that nobody had bought. While he failed to deliver the goods that were wanted. Poor mother by all kinds of trouble was haunted. A splendid gift came from a faraway friend. For whom there was not a thing ready to send. The present intended for father had not been bought for some reason; somebody forgot.

The dish she intended to give to Aunt Sue was knocked from a table and broken in two! There were whooping and howling and trouble all day, and thirty times mother turned sadly to say, "If they'd keep the schools open today and tonight the world perhaps still would be lovely and bright."

—Chicago Record-Herald.

Why She Liked Bad Children.
Elizabeth Cady Stanton was fond of children, though not of bad ones. Once in Boston she was calling on a young woman whose little son, a particularly vicious urchin, played about her while she conversed.

The child would pull his mother's hair, kick her and thump her, nor did he hesitate to try now and then these tricks upon Mrs. Stanton. She said calmly:

"You are a bad boy, aren't you?"
"He is a bad boy," his mother in a sad, hurt tone confessed.
"I prefer bad children, though," said Mrs. Stanton.

"Do you?" cried the mother.
"Because," said Mrs. Stanton, "they are usually sent out of the room." —New York Tribune.

No. of Course Not.
He paused for a moment at a busy crossing just as a truck laden with kegs of fresh maple sirup backed heavily against the curb. Down came a tub from the topmost tier and broke with a dull, sickening thud at his feet. He looked in dismay at his sirup covered feet and trousers and exclaimed:

"Here's a pretty mess!"
"Well," responded the driver, "it's not on me." —Philadelphia Ledger.

Work of Art.
"Did the critic say anything when you told him I had said that picture to an American millionaire?" asked the artist.

"Yes," he said "Well done!" responded the close friend.
"Ah, he meant the picture?"
"No, the American millionaire." —London Spare Moments.

Thoughtful.
Two men had fallen out of the sixty fifth story. As they proceeded downward one of them yelled.
"Why do you yell?" asked his companion.
"In order that people may catch us with their cameras," replied the other. —Detroit Free Press.

A Tragedian's Melancholy Query.
"I just heard a man say he would give $10 to see you."
"Indeed?" said Mr. Stormington Barnes. "Did he look like an ordinary auditor or a man with an attachment?" —Washington Star.

Too Many Preparations.
"They say that after seven rehearsals Swimmington actually stumbled through the wedding ceremony."
"Overtrained, I suppose." —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Great Scheme.
Muggins—How do you manage to keep your wife in such a good humor?
Buggins—I pretend to be jealous of her. —Philadelphia Record.

Prune Whip Cake.
Make a sponge cake of three eggs, one cup of sugar, one cup of flour, two teaspoons of baking powder and a half teaspoon of salt. Bake in two round pans. For the filling chop fine one cup of stewed prunes. Beat the whites of four eggs to a froth, add one tablespoon of sugar and the prunes. Spread half of this on one layer of cake, put on the second layer and the remainder of the prunes and whipped cream on top of that.

Fashion's Echoes.
Tweeds in two toned grounds of popular colors are illuminated with brilliant specks and spots of color. Large velvet covered buttons ornament some of the zibeline costumes. Gray this winter associates itself with orange, introduced with artistic skill and developing the latent beauty in the gray.

Fabrics are following the coloring of furs, and the mole shade in soft cloth makes a most delightful gown. The large muffs and long ended pelermes are very becoming to tall, slender figures.

The girl with sloping shoulders is in the front rank of the procession. Shaded plumes and shaded hat trimmings are all the fashion.

Sleeves are largely of the mandarin order, with very deep cuffs and the fullness pushed up near the elbow. The short round skirt is being rapidly revived for all but dressy wear.

"Angel sleeves" of lace, adjustable by means of tiny jeweled pins; various evening gowns, represent a clever notion of a society woman.

Waistcoats of plaited sash ribbon in contrasting colors are a Paris fancy for men.

Pine French flannel makes pretty and serviceable waists. Leather waist belts are all the vogue.

Wheat Cakes.
Four cups of buckwheat meal, a cupful of corn meal, a level tablespoonful of salt, one-half of a cake of compressed yeast and a pint each of milk and water; mix overnight, having the liquid lukewarm. In the morning the batter should have risen and fallen again. Stir in a scant teaspoonful of soda dissolved in warm water or milk, and the batter is ready for the griddle. If it is not desired to use milk substitute water and a tablespoonful or two of molasses, but the cakes will not be so tender. —Table Talk.

Mince Pie Meat.
Boil until tender about four pounds of lean beef, remove all gristle and bone while warm. When cold chop fine and add chopped apples in the proportion of two bowls to one of meat, one and a half cupfuls of molasses, one cupful of sugar, two dessertspoonfuls each of cloves, cinnamon, allspice and nutmeg, half a pound of suet, chopped fine, one quart of boiled cider, one pound each of raisins and currants, a quarter of a pound of citron chopped fine and a small piece of butter.

A Point About Sauces.
In sauces where the flavor of butter is desired, as in egg sauce served with fish, do not add the full amount at first, as cooking dissipates the flavor, while a little butter slowly melted and beaten into the sauce just before it is sent to the table will give it the buttery flavor so highly esteemed by the epicure. So advises an exchange.

WAGES

OF THIRTY THOUSAND MEN TO BE REDUCED.

The Frick Company Takes the Initiative in This and Posts the Notices Tuesday.

Connellsville, Pa., Dec. 15.—Thirty thousand men in the Connellsville and Lower Connellsville regions will be affected by a reduction in wages amounting to an average of 17 per cent, was announced today. The H. C. Frick Coke Company takes the initiative in this, the first reduction since the great strikes of the early nineties, and this morning posted notices at all their plants announcing the reduction. Just one year ago an advance of ten per cent was announced by the company. Nothing but advance notices have been announced by the companies of the region since 1895. The new rate is somewhat above the former $2 scale and indicates that the Frick company intends to make a stand for something like a two dollar minimum price for furnace coke, notwithstanding the fact that many sales have been reported below that figure. Simultaneously with the announcement of a reduction in wages, the Union Supply company, which has company stores at all the plants of the Frick and allied companies has announced a general cut in the price of goods. The notice posted this morning says:

"The radical changes in business conditions and the great reduction in the price of coke within the past six months make a readjustment of wages necessary."

FIREMEN

Had an Exciting Fight of Four Hours in Pittsburgh—Loss Will Amount to $150,000.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 15.—After an exciting fight of four hours in the bitter cold firemen succeeded in subduing one of the most stubborn and dangerous fires the department has been called upon to handle for some time. Spontaneous combustion is the only cause given for the fire, which was first discovered on the second floor of the Arnot Powder building located between Penn avenue and Duquesne way and between Sixth and Seventh streets. The loss will reach at least $150,000, distributed between the Michigan furniture company, Hawthorne Engraving Printing company, E. W. Hague Electric Plating company, the Plumbers' Supply company, the Chuddy Cheving Gum factory, and other smaller tenants of the building. The losses are pretty well covered by insurance.

Captain J. W. Bennett of engine company No. 2, and Joseph Fureyfi nozzlemaster of the same company, were overcome by the smoke while working inside the building and were seriously burned before their comrades could rescue them.

The Alvin and the Bijou theatres are separated in the rear from the Arnot buildings only by a 20 foot alley and while the fire was burning a matinee performance was in progress at the Bijou. A panic was averted by the manager of the theatre, quietly explaining the situation to the audience and requesting the people to leave the house without undue haste as there was no present danger.

Arthur Davis Arrested.
Arthur Davis, a negro, was arrested by Chief Sheridan for attempting to hold up and rob a white man in the rear of the Klondyke saloon. The two had been drinking together and Davis is said to have choked his would be victim, but help came before he secured anything of value. Davis' trial will be held Wednesday morning at 3:30 o'clock.

Rev. C. C. Elson.
Rev. C. C. Elson, pastor of the First Methodist church of Lancaster and wife were surprised by 550 people recently, the friends of the pastor and wife leaving a large case of silverware. This was how the people felt over Mr. Elson's return to them for the seventh year. Mr. Elson was pastor of the First church here before going to Lancaster.

How rare a thing to find a woman who is perfectly healthy. Fully seventy per cent. of the sex suffers from ailments which often render life a burden. These ailments cause nervousness, irritability, melancholia, hysteria, etc. They entirely unfit a woman for life's work and deprive her of most of its joys.

OUR OWN PROBLEM.

RESTRICTION OF IMMIGRATION AND THE LABOR UNIONS.

The Labor Conditions of China Would Mean a Staking of the Whole Public - Economic Laws Govern the Question of Wages.

Among the many communications which we are receiving on the question of the restriction of immigration is one that says the "only defense which this country has against the tyranny of labor unions" is to leave our gates wide open to the invasion of aliens who will work on reasonable terms and not "lay down conditions of hours and pay which drive capital out of business."

The argument of our correspondent, of course, is that it is much more important to the welfare of this country to break the power of organized labor than to maintain the American standard of wages and living. We do not agree with him. This paper has never hesitated to take issue with organized labor when it has committed acts or pursued policies which were neither to its own real benefit nor to the benefit of the general public. When organized labor has attempted to perpetrate economic follies—and such attempts have been all too frequent in the last two or three years—we have been as quick and as earnest to oppose them as to oppose follies of organized capital. But there has never been any thought in our mind—there never can be in the mind of any man who has studied the social and political and industrial conditions of the world—that American labor, organized or unorganized, does not add the most and the best to the welfare both of itself and of the general public when its members not only find ready employment, all of them, but get the largest possible share of what they produce compatible with the permanent safety and the reasonable remuneration of the capital engaged with labor in that production.

There is no possibility that organized labor can confiscate all of capital's share of production with excessive demands as "scabs," for before capital will submit to such confiscation it will withdraw from participation in that production, going elsewhere and seeking other employment where an adequate return is guaranteed or permitted to capital. In urging labor unions to refrain from demanding too much for their share, as we have had occasion to urge frequently of late, our concern has been, first of all, for what would happen to labor itself under those circumstances and then to the country, since the welfare of the country and of everybody in it in the long run must be measured by the welfare of its wage earners.

The check, the absolute check, that there is on the "tyranny of the labor union" is that when its excesses compel capital to withdraw from productive co-operation with it, union labor or any other labor instantly pays the penalty by being thrown out of work in that particular field, and the only terms on which it can go back are a concession from those excessive demands, permitting the capital to return to its former employment and activity. No labor union in the world can compel capital to pay for long higher wages than it can stand, for it must quit at that point, and when it quits labor quits also and can only begin again on reasonable terms with the capital. At the very worst the mistakes or wrongs of labor demanding too much can be only temporary, for the situation is always governed automatically by the natural laws of economics, and whenever labor is thrown out of work because capital will not operate without some share of return on the production labor will concede a fair share in order that it, along with capital, may go back to work.

But at the very best restraining the tyranny of the labor unions by having two men ready and anxious to do one man's work would be permanently disastrous. We cannot receive millions more of wage earners here than there is work for without creating labor conditions and labor standards such as there are in Italy or in Russia or in China. No work for any considerable proportion of a nation's wage earning population means poor pay for those who have employment, for every man who is out of work will bid desperately for the work of the man who is more fortunate, bidding always at a lower scale till he gets it, when in turn the other must again bid still lower to retain or regain it. And no nation can have the labor conditions and labor standards of an Italy, a Russia or a China without sinking in whole—the whole general public—to the social, industrial and political depths of an Italy, a Russia or a China.

Any problems that we have within our own borders, lodged there with sufficient stability to enable us to take hold of them in a coherent shape, we can manage. We can manage the union labor question if it is a problem of our own. But the labor of the world pouring over our boundaries in floods, never ending and overwhelming, is a problem shifting too quickly for adjustment, rising in new forms too swiftly to be met, inundating irresistibly and destroying mercilessly from without. While we are attending to our labor vexations within, let us bar out the labor vexations of the world. If we do not, our country teeming with the unemployed, we shall change our trend from the dazzling heights of Americanism to the lower levels and the baser standards of an Italy, a Russia or a China!—New York Press.

FULL DRESS GOWNS.

Velvet the Rage—Dinner, Reception and Ball Toilets.

In velvets the new light weight quality called chiffon takes the lead in everything except for costly cloaks and coats. Its sheen and exquisite pliability have entirely changed the old treatment of velvets into this modern one, where everything is possible in the way of handwork. Smartness has declared for small checks in dress velvets intended for street costumes. The mid-tone of any one of the colors in vogue is often crossed by line squares of black or gray or by a lighter shade of the same foundation color.

Single colored velvet costumes are for more ceremonious purposes and admit of fur trimmings of the costliest.

EFFECTIVE EVENING FROCK.

character. Violet, blue, French and stone grays, fawn, green, fuchsia purple and cardinal red, together with black and gun metal shades, form the gamut of best choice. These costumes are, according to preference, made up with the dressiness of lace and passementerie trimmings or with a charming simplicity of line and fur trimmed expensively.

The princess dinner gown here shown is of black chiffon velvet over white taffeta. The foundation is finished with a plaiting and a deep ruche edged ruffle of white chiffon. The velvet princess has panels of handmade black silk lace inserted at the sides, rising in high points almost to the hips, and the chiffon is beneath these full length. The inset girle and the cape effect at the back and over the shoulders are also of the coarse silk lace. A large jet butterfly trims the left of the corsage, and the elbow sleeves are of black tulle over white chiffon.

White brussels net spotted with chenille over white taffeta composes the ball gown, together with repousse lace in deep vandyke points and opalescent paillettes.

Among the full dress gowns for dinner and reception wear a skirt combination of crepe and chiffon velvet or of satin cloth is entirely new. The half of a long train skirt in its shaped flare, whether of velvet or cloth, is joined to an upper half of transparent crepe or of double mousseline of the same color and shade. A charming example in chalk white has its lower skirt of cloth, the upper one of crepe to match. Seven straps of cloth one and a half inches wide connect this cloth over the crepe to the belt, and these straps are ornamented with small buttons covered with crepe. The waist belt is of old rose silk.

A gray velvet dinner gown is in the latest all gray movement. There are two shaped flounces upon the bottom, the lower one much the wider of the two, both trimmed with wavy lines of piping in gray satin. The low bodice fits the figure, with a slight blouse in front, the lower part of velvet, but the rest of gray silk lace, with gray and silver paillette embroidery. Gray chiffon forms the sleeve drapery—Vogue.

YULETIDE DECORATIONS.

The Christmas Colors and Materials and How to Use Them.

There is nothing more delightful in housekeeping than decorating the table, and already the dainty housewife is pondering the matter of appropriate floral display for the time honored festival. The foundation of all artistic results lies in the pure white damask, on which every bit of color will stand forth as only a perfect background can make it.

Red is unquestionably the true color for Christmas decorations. If we would make them distinctive, and this bright color gives always a suggestion of warmth and cheerfulness.

A most charming centerpiece is in the form of a star. Directly under the chandelier, bedecked with laurel and holly, place the table draped with white linen. In the middle put a tall and graceful crystal or silver candelabrum, trimmed with greenery and holly berries, each of its lights shaded with gauze or fluffy paper shades of a bright scarlet. At the base a large flat star radiates from the candelabrum in five points. A tin form serves as a foundation. This is packed with damp moss and then filled with scarlet geraniums, offset with a fringe of feathery green. The little flowers of the geranium must be divided from the parent stems and packed quite compactly.

Placed about this centerpiece are four small, flat dishes containing alternately little amounts of ruby jellies and candied chestnuts piled cannon ball fashion. As far as is practicable the table service should be china ornamented with narrow red bands, supplemented by the usual cut glass and silver. The star may be filled also with holly berries, with a deep border of laurel leaves, or another variation of this idea is to form the star of heavily frosted evergreens, bordered with holly berries.

While holly and mistletoe for many decades held almost undisputed sway as Christmas decorations, their substitutes are now numerous. Lycopodium, familiarly known as ground (or running) pine, has a light, feathery effect and is lovely for festooning and drapery, or it can be made into flat wreaths and tied with smart bows of broad red ribbon. These wreaths may be placed at the four corners of the table, or laid around the candelabrum placed in the center.

At each place a bunch of holly, tied with narrow green ribbons, and the name card are placed. These cards are easily made round, with a wreath of holly leaves on the edge, painted in green and outlined in silver, with silver lettering.—Boston Cooking School Magazine.

Potted Plants as Presents.

The last weeks before the holidays are crowded with belated shopping trips and half finished homemade gifts. Why work so hard to make "something that will answer" and yet that in all probability will meet no want and therefore receive little welcome? Why not save one's nerves and give more pleasure by buying a few blooming bulbs in pots or selecting some thrifty plants of oxalis, abutilon, ivy or geranium from one's own window garden, making the pots pretty with paper and ribbon after the fashion of the dorfists. If you like?

For Rough Hands.

When the hands look rough and red, an ointment rubbed in will generally make them more attractive. Mix together one dram of powdered borax, five ounces of rosewater and one-fourth ounce of glycerin. After washing the hands and drying them well rub this lotion in. Put on only a little, and if it fails to be taken up by the skin wipe it off and put less on the next time.

HELD UP INTERURBAN CAR NEAR COLUMBUS.

Highwaymen Robbed Crew and Cursed When They Found No Passengers on the Car.

Columbus, Dec. 15.—Columbus, New Albany and Johnstown interurban car No. 33 was held up by two armed men last night at Zimmer's corners, two miles west of Gahanna.

Conductor James Hershner lost $12 and his silver watch, valued at $15. Motorman Herbert Hawley parted company with his $23 gold watch. In their haste to get through with their job the robbers overlooked $15 in Hawley's pocket. Neither did they see Conductor Hershner toss his pocketbook, containing $12, under a car seat.

There were no passengers on the car and the highwaymen on leaving, cursed their luck.

The car approached Zimmer's corners at 8:30 and was stopped in response to the signal of the men. They stepped on board and Hershner opened the door, letting the robbers pass inside.

The conductor followed them in and in an instant found two big guns aimed at his head.

"Your money or your life," cried the larger of the pair, Hershner was unarmed and made no resistance.

The smaller man yanked the bell rope as a stop signal and started forward for the motorman.

At the same time the larger one of the pair stepped to the back platform and threw off the trolley. This gave Hershner a chance and he tossed his pocketbook and contents under a seat.

Motorman Hawley could make no defense with a switch iron and he was a prisoner.

The search for cash and watches took place in the middle of the car. One robber poked his hand into Hawley's pocket but missed the envelope containing the motorman's week's pay.

Hawley insisted that he had but 10 cents and one of his captors handed over 31 cents of the amount taken from the conductor.

The riding of pockets over, the little robber ran forward and gave the whistle a toot. Then both ran out of the car, growling because no passengers were aboard, and started back toward Gahanna.
